Course Highlights:

This 3 hour training will equip the installer with the knowledge to rough-in, install, pipe and wire a Fujitsu J-Series system. It includes: selecting proper equipment location and will teach how to read and utilize the “Design Simulator Report” for proper pipe size and routing. Key examples provide knowledge for use of separation tubes or pipe headers. Communication wiring, address setting and how to address indoor units is also included. The class will cover basic function codes after installation to qualify the systems set-up for startup. The course is an interactive question and answer training for every contractor, technician, installer and sales advisors. In depth discussion on the available products and how to apply them to a specific type of installation. We highlight the proper selection and application of the products and how they can solve customers’ comfort problems. We discuss how to read and use capacity rating charts. The use of various types of controls is highlighted.
